The Unexpected Guest

By Agatha Christie

Directed by Sharon White

Here's a thriller to keep you on the edge of your seat.

Through the thick fog of the English countryside, a lost traveller whose car has broken down stumbles up to a manor house looking for assistance... only to find the owner of the house, Richard Warwick, shot dead in his wheelchair and his wife standing nearby holding a gun. Warwick was a detestable brute hated by his entire household, so when the wife confesses to the murder, the unexpected guest agrees to give her an alibi. But when the police arrive and begin their investigation, they discover that no one in the household has a foolproof alibi.

Can you identify the murderer before the police?
